To date, Akran has implemented the framework and the supporting audit programs necessary for ISO 14001 certification, the global standard for environmental management systems. Akran currently monitors the environmental impact of its activities, products and services to continuously improve its environmental performance and reducing energy, resource consumption and waste production. ISO 14001 provides a systematic approach to setting and achieving environmental objectives and targets already in place.

Completion of the ISO compliance process is expected in coming year. Akran is a member in good standing with various Corporate Social Responsibly led organizations in North America.
